

Local Officials React to Nucor Steel's Announcement to Expand their Crawfordsville Steel Mill

(February 1, 2022) Local officials from Montgomery County government have reacted to today's announcement from Nucor Steel of their plans to invest $290 million in their Crawfordsville steel mill. The investment will create 80 more jobs.

"This is a great day for the people of Montgomery County," said County Commissioner President John Frey, "I want to thank our local and State officials who have worked hard to make this happen."

"We want to thank Nucor Steel for investing in our county," said County Commissioner Jim Fulwider. "They have improved the lives of many of our residents. They have also supported many local organizations and they have invested a tremendous amount in many young people in our county for the last 30 years."

"Our industries are an important driver of growth in our county, " said County Commissioner Dan Guard, "and Nucor Steel's investment shows the importance of working to help our local industries expand right here in Montgomery County."

"Nucor Steel is a valuable community partner and their investment is a testament to their commitment to our county, " said County Council President Tom Mellish.

"Nucor Steel is the largest taxpayer in the county and their expansion is a great benefit to our residents and businesses, "said Redevelopment Commission President Ron Dickerson.

The County has offered an incentive package that includes the construction of the Nucor Road overpass over US 136 and tax abatement for real and personal property.
